Activity Book

When Someone Dies: A Child-Caregiver Activity Book (Spanish title: Cuando Muere Alguien: Un Libro de Actividades para Niños y sus Cuidadores) is an activity book for children that also provides valuable information to parents and caregivers about how grief impacts children. Contained within the pages of the book are activities for children designed to help them better express, understand, and cope with their grief. Each page also offers guidance about how adults can connect with their child on the very difficult subjects of death, dying, and bereavement.

This activity book for children is designed to help them better express, understand, and cope with their grief. Each page also offers guidance about how adults can connect with their child on the very difficult subjects of death, dying, and bereavement. (Color, 78pp.)

“I’ve been a grief counselor for 32 years, and this is, hands down, the best resource I’ve ever seen!”
Julia Ellifritt LISW-S
Cornerstone of Hope Bereavement Center

Activity Cards

When Someone Dies: Activity Cards for Young Children is a deck of activities to support caregivers and preschoolers in talking about death and dying through activities. Contained within the cards are activities for young children designed to help them better express, understand, and cope with their grief. Each page also offers guidance about how adults can connect with their child on the very difficult subjects of death, dying, and bereavement.

Each activity card has both a visual prompt and detailed instructions for the caregiver. The deck also includes tips for the caregiver on how to connect with their child on the very difficult subjects of death, dying, and bereavement. (Color, 51 cards.)

NACG's intent is for these books to be offered to children and their families who are grieving free of charge. All proceeds support the work of the NACG.
